

The diagram shows a large rectangular area representing a document page. It is enclosed by a solid red border. Inside this red border, there is a dashed green line that forms a smaller rectangle, offset from the red border. This green dashed line represents the margin. The text is centered within the area defined by the green dashed line.

You HAVE to erase ALL lines (border wrap, margin and final size) before sending your files.
If you do not, it will be printed!

Margin (your text can't exceed this border)

The red line represents the final size of the document

Border wrap (your backgrounds - images or colors - have to reach this area)